4 DIE AS 'FLYING BOXCAR' EXPLODES In Wooded Area Below Jackson

3 Survive Crash

BY TRY OVERALL

Four men were killed last night when an Army C-119 "flying boxcar" apparently exploded in mid-air five air miles southwest of here over the Parkersburg community. Three others parachuted to safety after being blown from the plane, and although dazed, managed to pull the airplane down to Jackson-Madison County Hospital in Griffin. The funeral home ambulances.

The Air Base at Smyrna from which the plane was reported on a routine flight en route to Oklahoma City.

Identified by the base crewmen were Captain Kenneth W. Christie, Waterman, Mass., and First Lt. Willie L. Mitchell, Nashville.

The other two men, whose names were not disclosed, were identified as crewmen with the military commission to investigate the crash.

The four bodies were at Smith Funeral Home and were to be returned to Smyrna today.

Survivors were identified as Capt. Robert E. Moore, the pilot, of Nashville; Elmer B. Smith, operator, of Toledo, Ohio; and Joseph W. D'Amico, crew chief of Memphis.

The wreckage of the airplane, which was reported to have crashed in a wooded area, was found near the site of the crash.

One of the bodies was found near the wreckage. The others were thrown out of the plane.

The National guardmen today had thrown up a road block into the area to keep hundreds of curious on-lookers from the wreckage.

Another survivor was reported to have said he was in the plane when it exploded.

Allied Troops Near Red 'Iron Triangle'

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

TOKYO, June 5—AP—Allied troops moved today within artillery range of the Red "iron triangle" in Korea.

But 6,000 battling Chinese block the advance of other United Nations troops trying to reach the triangle.

Most of the U. N. west and central front surged closer to the Communist assembly area bounded by Chorwon, Kumhwa and Pongmuk.

The threatening Allied advance was made against diminishing Red resistance along the rain-swept Pongmuk-Chorwon highway in the north.

U. N. troops are now within nearly two miles through the mud-narrowing 13-mile gap between the ill-held Red Chorwon and the prize Pongmuk.

Front-line dispatches reported Allied on this route now are in position to turn their long range attack on Chorwon, to the east, and to the north.

Three thousand Reds fought through the day, holding the Allied forces at a standstill in the Pongmuk-Korhwa area.

Another 3,000 Chinese held Allies to a 500-yard gain north of Hwa.

Each of Hwachon reservoir attack, Communist forces fought bitterly to stem Allied advances north of Hwachon and northeast of Hwa.

Where Red pressure decreased, even made in tough, muddy fighting over Communist lines.

Communist forces had hurried the advance Monday, inflicting a heavy loss on a mile ahead Tuesday's advance.

Allied tanks led the same advance Monday, but on a narrow secondary road they failed to bog down Communist forces.

The Fifth Army Force sent 100 planes out to strike through clouds and rain at the Communist defenses.

U. N. troops were killed and wounded. Their planes were shot down.

Acheson Tells Senators About Veto Of U.S. Plan

WASHINGTON, June 5—Such strong objections were raised today by other nations with the United States that the plan was never put into effect.

The telegram said the "privileges" term MacArthur often used presented a "grave problem."

U. N. forces since enemy air attacks on Manchuria, the word "privileges" appears from Manchuria fields, dash into Korea air space to strike U. N. air and ground forces at various points.

The telegram continued: "Acheson's signature on last Nov. 13 to American embassies in other areas of the world, as by efforts made to put in the 'hot pursuit' plan."

Approval of the other governments is required, however, that the United States military leaders, however, that

Referendum Draws Light Early Vote

Voting in the combined Sunday movie referendum and city general election is proceeding at a slow pace today.

Only about 600 to 700 estimated votes had been cast in the 11 city precincts by 11 o'clock.

Could a sharp upsurge during afternoon hours.

Observers were reluctant to predict the final outcome of the ballot, but those for and against ordinance making the Sunday movie referendum legal were almost equal in number.

The ordinance was beaten in its last year, by only 18 votes out of almost 4,000 cast.

Three Democratic candidates today are unopposed for the three posts on the city commission.

For mayor, Chester Farham is unopposed. For city clerk, education, and Willie Vestal is unopposed.
